Project: Integrated Manufacturing

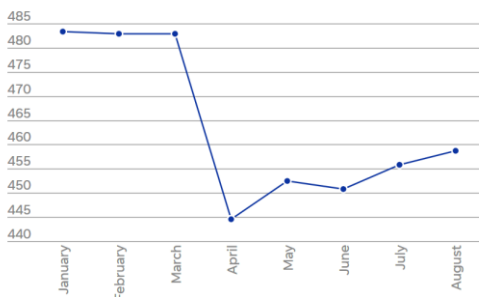

Rebecca Marschner PI, Jason (JD) Jones Co-PI

The U.S. manufacturing sector had its fourth consecutive month of growth.

Amid all this pandemic-induced economic upheaval, U.S. manufacturing is growing. The manufacturing sector overall grew for four consecutive months between May and August according to* the Institute of Supply Management. That growth is based on a number of factors including demand, employment, and inventory levels.
